

INFORMATION ON TRAINING SESSIONS
FOR YEAR 1 STUDENTS AND YEAR 1 DOCTORAL STUDENTS
IN THE 2023/2024 ACADEMIC YEAR

The E-learning training, Occupational health and safety and Fire protection training and Library course are obligatory courses (information courses) for all students beginning their studies in year 1: first cycle, second cycle and long-cycle studies, both full time and part time programmes and students at the Doctoral School of the University of Szczecin.

Students must complete the training within the following set time limits:

- Occupational health and safety training - by 14 October 2023
- E-learning training and Library course - by 14 October 2023

Students are given a “pass” credit for these training sessions (no grade or ECTS credits given). Where a student is readmitted for the first year of studies or where he or she has already done such training sessions at a different university, he or she is obliged to sit the test to obtain the “pass” credit for these sessions again. Pass credits awarded for previously done sessions cannot count towards the pass credit for currently applicable training sessions.

HOW TO LOG IT TO THE TRAINING SESSIONS:

1. Go to E-studia Uniwersytet Szczeciński \(usz.edu.pl\)
2. Log in to Moodle using the same credentials you use to log in to your e-Prodziekan account or to your US mail (login: email address; password: password to your US mail).
3. After you log in, choose the appropriate training session (all obligatory training sessions for year one students are placed in the catalogue “Student onboarding” (Szkolenie BHP [Occupational health and safety training], Library course, E-learning training)), go through the material and do the test at the end.
